HYPNOTISM WAS SUBJECT OF ADDRESS

Psychological Society Sees
Practical Demonstration

MR. De SYLVA

Says Professors and Soldiers
Make the Best Subjects

Absolute silence and tenseness of the audience attested to the mystery that prevailed the atmosphere when Mr. De Sylva gave a practical demonstration of hypnotism at the first meeting of the Psychological Society in the S. C. A. assembly hall last evening.

The meeting was splendidly attended, additional chairs having to be brought up to accommodate the gathering which evidently exceeded the expectations of the organizers.

After introductory remarks by Mr. Hall, who presided in the unavoidable absence of the president and vice-president, Mr. De Sylva, the honorary president, requested volunteers as subjects for hypnotism. Upon the appearance of a suitable subject, the professor proceeded to install his charge in a lounge chair, impressing upon him the necessity for complete relaxation of mind and body together with a willingness to cooperate, promising the volunteer that nothing would be done to compromise him. Instructions given in a low droning voice, scarcely audible to the audience, gradually induced the desired condition, and the subject completely submitted to his instructor's wishes. Acting with the slow awkward motion of those who act in a semi-dazed condition the subject faithfully executed the movements which he was prompted to do and solved more or less difficult mathematical problems with seeming ease.

After awaking, the subject was able to recall several of the questions asked him and when released from further obligation, descended the platform and took the chair which when yet in an hypnotic state, his instructor had told him to take.

After a second volunteer had been placed in the hypnotic state by the usual mysterious passing of hands and whispered instructions, and certain tasks assigned which in their method of execution proved quite conclusively the success of venture, he was granted his freedom and Mr. De Sylva proceeded to give an explanation of the particular state with which he was dealing as well as the conditions which brought it about. Fatiguing the eyes, said the speaker, is a method of limiting the field of

FIRST INFORMAL DANCE AT UNION

To be Strictly Informal. No
Tuxedos

The first dance on McGill's social calendar to be held this year, will be the informal at the Union tonight. Judging by the way the tickets were snapped up and the preparations that are being made, the affair promises to be a great success.

The committee of social functions have done everything in their power to ensure a pleasurable evening for everybody and the arrangements that they have made regarding music and refreshments are ideal. Furthermore at a meeting to-day it was unanimously agreed by the committee that the wearing of tuxedos at informal dances be rigorously banned. The following is the schedule of dances that has been drawn up:

Oct. 26—Informal
Nov. 16—Informal
Nov. 23—Junior Prom.
Dec. 14—Union House
For the second session four informals and one formal have been arranged but the dates have not been definitely decided.

The Constitution follows the jag.

The watch on the Rhine seems to be in line for a new case.

UNION HOUSE ELECTIONS TO-DAY

Science, Law and Medicine
Vote From 9-5

Science and Law, are expected to buzz with activity today when two representatives from each faculty are to be elected to the Union House Committee.

Three candidates in each of the above named faculties are to be balanced upon and electioneering propaganda in the form of posters which have been displayed in prominent positions since nomination day, have worked up enthusiasm among the electorate.

The usual lobbying is expected where the undecided newcomers may be importuned for support.

Applied Science will vote on McLean, and Lanthier, Law will ballot on Hindon, Pratt, E. M. McDonald and W. M. Bourke.

MEDICINE CLASHES WITH LAW TO-DAY

Inter-Faculty Rugby Game
on Campus

At 4 P. M. to-day the Meds. will stack up against Law on the old campus in a scheduled game of the inter-faculty rugby league. Very much interest is centered around the contest as both the Meds and Law teams are undefeated. The two teams are strong contenders for championship in league. The Lawyers have been very fortunate in winning their game with Science who have two victories credited to them. The doctors defeated by a good margin Arts, who defeated Commerce.

To-day's result will have an important bearing on chances of either team winning premier honors.

The following men of Medicine are requested to be at Molsch Hall by 3 P. M.

Grassick, Chisholm, Cheeseman Milligan, Ranken, Roache, Hamilton, Gempsey, Zwick, Beardon, Chalmers, Taylor, McLeod, Ohey, Dempsey, Matthews, Quackenbush, Walker, Than, Scott, Elderkin.

If the Government is extremely anxious to get convictions in jury trials of rum cases it might be better to charge defendants with selling adulterated goods.

FROSH GIVE BANQUET TO ARTS SOPHS

Over One Hundred and Fifty
at Festive Board

PROFS. PRESENT

"Eats" and Music Enjoyed by All

The freshmen and sophomores of the faculty of Arts smoked the pipe of peace yesterday evening at the annual frosh-soph banquet held in the ball room of the Union. Including members of the staff there were over one hundred and fifty present and all enjoyed themselves thoroughly. Mr. Honnegar's catering left nothing to be desired, both gourmets and gourmands were satisfied and when the party broke up shortly before ten o'clock all were agreed that the Union had proved its worth as a purveyor of eatables.

Coloured streamers were supplied to all and an infinite number of these deftly thrown across the room, lent to the hall an appearance that could not be excelled by any of Montreal's more pretentious hostels. Added to this was the spirit of good fellowship displayed between the frosh and the sophs, and the feeling of being "at home" and not in the house of a stranger. The professors, too, adopted that free and easy manner of which students are so fond. The spontaneous laughter which would arise at unexpected moments from different little groups about the hall did much to enhance the pleasure of the evening. At no time was there any of that stiffness which marks out similar functions held downtown.

The evening's programme which included eating, toasting and music was run off in excellent style. First came the feast of which everyone partook with great avidity. "The King" was proposed by Clayton Bourne, president of Arts '27. The toast was followed by the singing of the National Anthem. "Alma Mater" was proposed by H. P. Teakle, treasurer of the Arts Undergraduate Society. Teakle stressed the necessity of always being loyal to class, faculty and university. The toast was responded to by Col. Bovey secretary to the principal. Col. Bovey spoke briefly of the history of McGill, mentioning how each of the University's buildings had come to being. Gradually the vacant spaces in the campus had been filled up, old buildings were added to and improved upon, but the old Arts Building still stands as it had been originally built. Age however, is deserving of respect and the Arts Building should not be scorned.

ELECTRIC CLUB TO HEAR NOTED MAN

Mr. Mills Will Speak in Engineering Building

The members of the Electric Club are to be afforded a real treat this morning when they will have the opportunity of listening to Mr. John Mills of the Western Electric Company. Mr. Mills, who after the various opportunities that have been afforded to hear him, will scarcely need an introduction, will speak in room 33 in the Engineering Building between 12 and 1 o'clock during which time there will be no lectures in the third and fourth year electrical class.

During the week Engineering and Physical circles have shown great interest in the visit of Mr. Mills to Montreal. The meeting of the Engineering Institute last night, was very enthusiastic and the large attendance showed that Mr. Mills has been appreciated by the engineering profession at large throughout the city.

The Electrical Club has through the kindness of Dr. Eves been very fortunate in securing Mr. Mills to address the students. Mr. Mills is a man that every coming engineer should honour not only because of the heights to which he has risen, but because of his success in starting hundreds of students on the road to success in the student courses that he has done so much to organize in his company.

THERE IS A WORLD OUTSIDE

There is an undoubted tendency in the university towards the construction of a miniature world. Its inhabitants are the undergraduates and the boundaries shrink and expand according to the range of the people's activities. This means that for the most part we tend to live within the borders of the university grounds for seldom do we venture in a body beyond its confines. From a physical point of view, this creation of a world of our own has many distinct advantages, for it brings about a certain amount of unity throughout the student body and it helps in the building up of the spirit of co-operation and friendship. But when our mentalities, through fear, slothfulness, or stunted growth, fail to venture beyond the area of our college life, there is reason for alarm and apprehension. And there are students in possession of mental out-fits falling exactly within this category. Certain undergraduates, probably quite unconsciously, are concerned merely with their immediate surroundings and the near-future prospects. They live in a world within themselves and they are blissfully unconcerned with the events in the great outside lands. Some do not even read the daily papers with any degree of care and unless an almost universal upheaval takes place, they worry not their precious heads about national and international affairs. And sad to relate, they should.

Yesterday the Honourable Mr. Alexander K.C., Member of Parliament for the City of London, granted the Daily an interview and he uttered a plea for McGill men to interest themselves in the affairs of their native land in universal conditions. The present age, stated Mr. Alexander, is one for young men and much can be accomplished if the university shows an active interest in the events of the world. Such is truly the case and if we are not doing so already it is high time to turn our mental gaze on the affairs of the city, the Province, the Dominion, the Empire and even all the nations of this vast mysterious globe. To-day we are safe under the shadow of the buildings of Old McGill. The time is coming, however, and coming with astounding rapidity, when we shall find ourselves outside these narrow boundaries and it is well if we know something about the much greater world, into which we shall all enter.

CONDENSED COMMENT

Although the cap burning festival was not exactly a roaring event, the banquets were decidedly successful. Feelings of amity were uppermost throughout the entire evening and the hatchet was first buried in food and afterwards drowned in a composite liquid. Peace has been declared and the cry rings out, "The first and most crucial month is ended and all is well."

At ten o'clock this morning members of the Senior Football Team are leaving the Bonaventure Station—a good name by the way—for the Limestone City and the Queen's team. Although no organized plans have been announced for to-day, the team will heartily appreciate the presence of all undergraduates at the station to see them off. Queen's students according to the Journal, are already preparing to celebrate another championship. The Red and White hope to upset their premature calculations. Get down to the station then and do your bit in giving the clean fighting squad a great send-off.

The Informal to-night is to be informal. Tuxedos and tails are banned and the Committee of Social Functions is taking a firm stand in this connection. Those, who are planning to attend the party, are asked to support the decree which has been issued.

Elections for Union House representatives are taking place to-day. Vote and vote after thought and not in a hurry. The results are important and the voters are the responsible parties. No more need be said.

ATHLETIC MANAGERS ELECTED BY DENTS

First year Dentistry held a meeting yesterday, in order to select their athletic representatives. These are to act as managers of the various teams the Dents intend to form in order to enter into the interfaculty sports during the winter.

The following were elected:
Mgr. of Basketball Team—Goldman
Mgr. of Indoor Baseball—Herman
Mgr. of Hockey Team—McMahon

OKLAHOMA'S LIBRARY

Books checked out of the university library during the fiscal year ending June 3 averaged 678 a day, according to statistics compiled by J. L. Rader, librarian. This number includes all fourteen day books, temporary charges and reserve books.

The average number of books checked out daily is always greater in the summer session than in the winter term, Rader said. During the past summer there was an average of 1,595 reserve books checked out each day. Counting all the books there were 78,849 taken out during the two months of summer school.

There are something like 500 magazines come to the library. From 25 to 29 of these are on the shelves in the east reading room. Others are in the college of engineering, schools of medicine, law, economics and the departments of chemistry and geology. Shipments of books are received

LETTERS

Following is a list of unclaimed letters in the Registrar's office—Oct. 23rd, 1923.

Dr. E. C. Brooks, Douglas Eldridge, M. Holmes, Robert N. Johnston, Lloyd Luxton, Richard Maxwell, Hugh Morrison, Carlton Whiteside, C. P. Wilson, P. Sheridan, (Cigarettes Card)

The Registrar would be glad if students or others who know the address of any of the above named would notify him of the same as soon as possible.

MENTAL DISARMAMENT

We all seem to be armed mentally against anyone who does not believe and think the way we do. Our economic existence cannot stand much longer if people continue to flaunt differences in race, color, and creed. You need only look at the trouble and loss of property and life that has happened in our country to-day because an organization has been formed that draws the line on race, color, and creed as a prerequisite for membership. The world to-day is in need of more serene and fraternal human brotherhood, that can only be developed by keeping the mind and heart free from prejudices and hate. As university students and loyal United States citizens we should all endeavour to do this to our utmost.

All kinds of people with various beliefs are in vogue upon earth. It would indeed be a morbid world if we all thought alike. It is the duty of all university men and women to keep an open mind on all subjects that are personally related to the individual. Respect anyone if he respects his race and creed. It is part of him and one can do nothing to change it.

Theatre Francais

In the Theatre Francais, Montreal has filled a long-felt want for another first-class vaudeville house. The bill running now at the old Loew's Court theatre consists of five acts of vaudeville, a feature film, Pathé News and a Comedy.

Doy Lons Duo open the vaudeville with a dumb acrobatic show. They are very good and keep the audience breathless with their antics.

Sid and Eva Cook follow with a dance and song number. Their folio includes several new popular songs combined with the pick of the old favourites.

Two colored comedians appear next. They are the best bet in the bill for drawing laughter from the house. They are naturally born funny men, and display a variety of fancy step dancing combined with a running patter and songs that take the house by storm.

Gren and La Fell are another pair who capture the hearts of the listeners. They dispense songs and music with a snappy pep, combined with a continual run of really funny antics from the pianist of the duo. He also caricatures, or rather pictures in music, a child at piano lessons, an emotional artist and plays with variations a number of nursery rhymes.

A violin, cello and flute played by the Three Jura Sisters provide some operatic airs, and they also combine a piccolo and piano, and a flute, guitar and violin in many very pleasing selections, one of which is "Basket of Roses."

The feature picture, entitled "Back-bone," is laid in the heart of the Maine woods in a village of St. Croix, which was built by the commercial enterprise of a French gentleman of the old school. This, with a Pathe comedy, news, and an official movie talk round out a very entertaining evening.

If we would continue to live in tranquil friendship we must submerge our race, color, and religious differences and do all in our power to make this world a better place for the individual and for the mass than it was when we entered life. We can take nothing out of life, but we can leave behind a work that will long be remembered. Why not make this work our individual task in our own environment, among our own friends, an individual task in stabilizing the world? Then we will leave something behind that will be remembered.

Let us all men, mentally disarm and help the other fellow for, as university students, we are broadminded enough to suppress differences for the good of the whole.

bour and Shoe Factory

The Commercial Seniors had the privilege yesterday afternoon of paying a visit of inspection to the huge Frontenac Breweries. About thirty men accompanied by Dr. Willard, gathered at two thirty, in the office of the company and were placed under the charge of one of the officials who conducted them through the plant, explaining in every detail the process of brewing the beer and answering most willingly the multitude of questions that were put to him.

Starting at the end where the finished product comes out, the students watched the bottling and labelling process for some minutes and then proceeded to the storage rooms where an extremely cold welcome was accorded the visitors. The beer is stored here in huge vats and the atmosphere is kept at a temperature several degrees below zero. After shivering in the intense cold as long as they could stand it the party moved on to the brewing plant, there was no beer being brewed at the time but it was very interesting to see the huge copper tanks in which the beer is brewed. These tanks have a capacity of fifteen thousand gallons and one brew lasts from five to six hours. The next place of interest was the cold storage plant. This plant is used for keeping down the temperature of the storehouse and is most up to date in every respect. This completed the inspection of the brewery, but before taking their leave the party were given a sample of the product they had seen being made. Free beer was passed around to the delight of all present, nevertheless, it is pleasant to remark that no one was over-indulgent and all left in good condition and high spirits.

This is the third industrial trip the School of Commerce has made this session.

On Tuesday last a visit was paid to the Tetreault Shoe Manufacturing Company's plant and the students were given a splendid insight into the shoe manufacturing business. The visit was under the direction of Professor Thompson, and the party was conducted through the plant by the company's factory manager Mr. Hamilton. Mr. Tetreault the president and Mr. Doig the sales manager were also there to welcome the party.

The first visit of the year was made last week when practically the whole of the third-year were conducted on a tour around the Montreal Harbour, on the Harbour Commissioners' steam yacht, by Mr. Mercier of the Harbour Commission and Dr. Willard.

There are twenty trips planned to industrial enterprises in all this year, and it is expected that most of them will be made during the first term.

FROSH GIVE BANQUET TO ARTS SOPHS

The toast to the faculty was proposed by J. Duckworth, secretary of the freshman year. It was replied to by Dean Harkness and Professor Waugh. Dr. Harkness also spoke on the age of the Arts Building, saying that the fact that it was old, was nothing against it. The Library where he had studied at Cambridge was built in the year 1290, but this did detract in any way from its celebrity. Professor Waugh desired to see more co-operation between professor and student and less of the strained relation which seems to exist at present.

Duncan Stewart proposed the health of the Sophomores and Gracie Gorris, president of Arts '26, replied. L. Copeland proposed the toast to the Freshmen, this was responded to by Schiller and Bazin of Arts '27.

With Shepherd at the piano and Duckworth acting in the capacity of leader, the musical part of the programme was commenced. Put on Your Red and White Sweater, Barney Google, and Hail, Hail, were rendered with much vigour.

The McGill yell, rendered with the real punch brought the evening to a close.

consciousness thus paying the way to hypnotizing, and monotonous music helps to fixate the attention by helpful auditory stimuli. Twisting of the eye-balls is an index of incomplete relaxation and until this condition is removed by muscular motion or other exercises which fatigue the eyeballs, the subject cannot be said to be hypnotized.

SPECIAL CAR FOR ROOTERS TO-MORROW

Coach to be Attached to Ten O'clock Train

TEAM LEAVES TODAY

Senior Squad Entrain for Kingston. All Players
in Shape

Last Wednesday afternoon in spite of both wind and rain the senior squad turned out from McGregor down to the last sub. Coach Shaughnessy put the team through one of the most strenuous work-outs the team has yet had and obtained surprising results when the inclement weather is considered. Although the field was very slippery and in many places was covered with pools of water the end runs got away with fair speed and line-bucks were mostly a matter of how far the buckler would slide.

Yesterday the team again turned out and went through a light signal practice as a preliminary to a stiff scrimmage with the seconds. With fair weather and a dry field the McGill squad ought to give the Queen's team the best run they have had this year. For speed they have not a man that can touch Hanna, who, although he has not had a chance to show his wares on account of injuries. He has shown a great deal of brilliance in practice and if given an opportunity on the field of battle should get away for some long gains. On the other hand, Philpotts, who is really a half-back, should greatly strengthen the back-field while Mickles has shown that he can handle the quarter-back's position. Hughes' playing needs no comment for he has already proven his ability under the hottest fire. Little is also a tried man and can always be relied on in the extremity while Baker and Murphy provide two first class substitutes. The line will in all probability be the same as in the last game. Amaron, Starke, Dier, Manson, Gordon and Woodruff will fill the inside and middle positions, Anderson and Wilson should start at the ends and they have two good relief men in Robertson and McGillis. In the snap position Captain McGregor will do the bulk of the work with Norris ready to relieve him. Jack Fife is the likely choice for flying wing.

At Kingston the Tri-Color have not been at all idle and have been getting in some good practices. Coach Hughes putting his proteges through as strenuous work-outs as the poor weather will permit. The players have fully recovered from the effects of the Toronto game and are ready to give and are quite prepared to give McGill a good trouncing, according to the latest reports emanating from the more or less inclined to disagree with them. At any rate they intend to give them their hardest battle of the year.

Tomorrow morning the team entrains for the scene of the fight. The train leaves Bonaventure station at ten o'clock and it is rumoured that a considerable number of rooters will be on hand to give the boys a send-off in their quest of victory. For the convenience of rooters who wish to witness the contest a special coach is being arranged for and is being attached to the train which leaves the Bonaventure station at ten a.m. tomorrow. It is expected that a large number will take advantage of this arrangement.

"bone" etc., induces the hypnotic state while it is generally recognized that the method of fascination is one of the most potent and dangerous in use. It is not necessary to have a steady gaze in order to hypnotize. As for methods at present used therapeutically anyone can use them with varying degrees of success, depending upon the personal equation.

The speaker alluded to the ill-repute which hypnosis had gained through being used for personal gain and its unscrupulous use as a means of literature. There is no dissociation of personality in hypnosis, said Mr. De Silva; nor is the feeling of submission to authority necessarily correlated to it.

The most recent advantages of hypnosis is found in the treatment of shell shocked soldiers. Professor McDougall claims it to be the quickest way of eradicating recurring phobias of alcoholism and nervous disorders are known to have been effectually treated by hypnosis.

By perserverence, concluded the speaker, practically everyone can be hypnotized by one method or another former probably for their ability to and schoolmasters and soldiers, the concentrate and the latter for their obedience to commands, are claimed by some to be the best subjects.

At the close of his address the speaker answered several queries from the audience, which evidenced the genuine interest with which the proceedings had been followed.

DRAW FOR GOLF MATCHES IS OUT

Alumni and McGill Golf Club
at Beaconsfield

The draw for the golf match between the Alumni and the McGill Golf Club at Beaconsfield has now been made, and there should be some interesting matches.

At the top of the list, A. B. Darling, Science, '24 and D. M. Hodgson, Commerce '24, are drawn against Maurice Hodgson, ex-champion of the Royal Montreal Golf Club, and J. Hilary Robertson, Arts '15, Law '21, a former semi-finalist in the French Amateur championship, and a player of wide experience and deadly cunning on the Beaconsfield course, where he has played regularly since he was 7 years old. Notable in the pairings is the fact that a Hodgson is drawn against a Hodgson, a Chisholm against a Chisholm, and a McCall against a McCall.

If the weather does not improve, it will rather mitigate against the complete success of this unique encounter. But rain or shine everyone is expected out to play—those drawn for the morning can catch the 8.15 train at the Bonaventure Station while those playing in the afternoon should get the 12.15 or 1.30, both G. The Beaconsfield Club has kindly placed the clubhouse and course at the disposal of the teams, while the Alumni side will entertain the students to lunch.

INDOOR TENNIS MATCHES REACH SECOND ROUND

McGill Men Show Up
Well

FINALS TOMORROW

Wright Played Very Brilliant Game

In the second round of the Canadian Indoor Tennis Championships matches played yesterday, the McGill stars made an almost clean sweep. Although the sets were hard fought they were short and speedy, characterized mostly by brilliant play.

Of the four games in which McGill players participated, three were won by them. Play will be resumed to-day and if it is not improbable that the play off for the Championship will be between upholders of the Red and White.

In the singles Morrice won from Mills in two straight sets, the score being 7-7, 6-3, while Wright defeated Durand by a score of 6-0, 6-3. In the first set Morrice scored easily till he had five games to Mills, one whereupon Mills, by excellent net play piled up five more games in succession to his own score but for the rest of the set Morrice's careful placing prevented Mills from getting the necessary lead to win. In the last set Morrice was always in the lead.

Wright was in top form in his match against Durand and scored much at his own will.

In the doubles, Crocker and Wright easily defeated Morrice and Landry in the first set by the score of 6-0, but more difficulty in taking the next that set finishing at 7-5, for Crocker and Wright. In the second double match Nicholson and Leslie lost to Rainville and Fontaine mainly by their own errors. Score 6-3, 6-3.

Play will be resumed to-day Jack Wright is scheduled to play A. S. Cassels and Morrice will play the winner of the game.

Besides this Willard Crocker will face J. W. Brown.

At the close of his address the speaker answered several queries from the audience, which evidenced the genuine interest with which the proceedings had been followed.

INTERMEDIATES WILL BATTLE R.M.C. SQUAD

Return Match to be Played at Stadium

TOMORROW

Red and White Out to Avenge
Previous Defeat

While the McGill seniors are battling at Kingston, the Intermediate squad will seek revenge for the defeat they suffered at the hands of the Royal Military College when they met the latter team at the Stadium on Saturday. In their last meeting, the McGill players were buried under an avalanche of end runs in which the end wings were so effectively smothered that many long gains were registered by the Cadets. With the wings carefully coached it is not likely that any thing of a like nature will happen again.

Some of the Red and White players suffered injuries sufficiently serious as not to permit them to attend recent practices, but it is expected that the most of them will be in shape to play. Bazin and Gorrie are both rapidly rounding into good condition again and will probably be in the line-up.

The R.M.C. boasts an extremely good team this year which could easily make a fair showing in senior company. Their halves are a well balanced and well coached set of boys and compose both speed and ball-carrying ability, as well as being good tacklers. Their line is hardly as good as that of McGill and in a bucking game they are not very successful. On a wet field, the game should result in a very close score, for on a slippery footing the effectiveness of the R.M.C. backs will be considerably lessened.

The line-up of the two teams will be as follows:

R.M.C.	McGill
Halves
Harris	Cameron
Hamilton	Adams
Wright	Gill
Flying Wings
Smith	Gorrie
Snap
Mather	Fairbanks
Quarters
Matthews	Bazin
Insides
Lane	Newton
Stokes	Ogilvy
Middles
Brown	Walsh
Burley	Mitchell
Outsides
McColl	Chevrier
B. Carr-Harris	Smith

R. Carr-Harris	Cameron

R.V.C. ANNUAL SPORTS TO BE HELD TO-DAY

Hard Struggle for Inter-Year
Title

AT STADIUM

Big Turn Out of Spectators
Expected

The weather men permitting, for the second occasion in the annals of old McGill, the R.V.C. Annual Sports will be held in the Stadium at three-fifteen to-day. This is one of the red letter days in the R.V.C. calendar as all the powers of the athletes of the various years are tried. Every year turns out to cheer their members on to victory, as the year obtaining the highest number of points, wins the inter-year championship which also counts as one point toward the much coveted R.V.C. banner. The individual title also claims the interest of many.

Last year the Graduating Class of '23 won the inter-year trophy, by one point over the class of '22. Miss Roba Danton of '26 won the individual championship.

Of the interest which has been shown in the eliminations as well as the ability shown in the recent tennis tournament by the freshmen, can be judged, the class of '27 will put forth strenuous opposition to the upper years in the battle for the honors. The events will be run off in the order given below and should Father Phyllis reign supreme, the activities will be confined to the walls of the R.V.C. gymnasium.

Programme
1. 50-yards dash.
2. Running high jump.
3. Javelin throw.
4. Running broad jump.
5. Basketball throw.
6. 100-yards dash.
7. Graduates' race.
8. Football.
9. Tie-of-war.
10. Inter-year relay.

And melt us to tears,
As women of yore did our sires?

Will your lips be as red
And your eyes shine as bright,
With the flame of unfathomable

Will you strip us of green
And make our pocket-books lean,
Will you run up a bill for new tires?

FINAL WORDS BY MR. ROSE TO STUDENTS

Strong Plea Made for Church Union

S.C.A. INITIAL MEETING

Excellent Work Done in European Countries

The first monthly meeting of the Students Christian Association was held in Strathcona Hall last evening. The meeting was opened by Mr. Avisau who explained the need of coming together and discussing problems of interest to all concerned. The Association does not primarily set out to get members but to draw together certain elements and bring them to a mutual understanding so that the more apparent problems of student life may be solved to a great extent. This work of course necessitates a large responsibility and burden on the Student Christian Association to maintain this movement, which has really received its impetus at Toronto last year.

Mr. Rose the chief speaker of the evening was called upon to further elaborate on the importance of this movement and attempts made in Europe.

Mr. Rose has made an extensive study of the movement in Europe and America. He himself has been secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association at the University of Manitoba and has been actively engaged in the movement ever since.

It is evident that there is a great degree of difference and separative in Europe—grew here in Canada the 3000 miles of country does not help rear a unit of unity. Any institution or movement requires consolidation and active interest. It seems that the truths of experience are those that really count. With this guiding principle only can construction work be done towards the cause. In Canada the movement has been conceived at Toronto and already very excellent work has been done. No more fitting individual than Dr. Gray of Scotland was present at Toronto conference to initiate the Student Movement of Canada.

The movement would be destructive of the very fundamental principles if any attempt were made to hold one group or sub-groups—so that constructive work can be done this narrow attitude must be hurried and a saner position taken whereby all elements can become a part of this universal problem.

In England this movement has met with universal success under the able leadership of Dr. Gray. In France steps have been taken to unify 700,000 Protestants. There are virtually no Protestants in Italy. Some very fine work amongst student organizations has been accomplished by Claude Nelson. However the Student Movement in Germany has failed in virtue of the fact that the proprietorship was not in the hands of student body but older men.

It is significant to note the introduction of the Student Movement in Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, Latvia and Balkan States. Where there was no political unity previous to war. And of the achievements of the Student Movement was the construction of a House at Prague. As a result of which a greater enthusiasm and gusto for leaving has been aroused. Students of Russia and surrounding countries are attracted to University of Prague on this account. Industries, culture, and political unity have been instituted with new vim and life. Prague can boast of a great conglomeration which has brought about a new era in her history. This is due in great part to the movement. In Poland Mr. Rose has spent a good deal of his time since 1911, towards the student organizations. Poland today is very extensive. She has realized her life long ambition.

There is no greater need for stability amongst Student Movement than there is to-day. Already Catholic groups have joined indirect opposition to other creeds as Protestants and Jews, with of course unpleasant results. The need has become very acute for the institution of this movement, and so Mr. Rose with the aid of others have brought their influence to bear. Very fine work has been done—student buildings have been constructed, material and moral aid have already been given to students.

Students in Europe are undergoing not only an intellectual but also a moral struggle. And it is to this class that the movement wishes to aid in her noble wait. So far she has been instrumental in helping student and maintaining the constancy necessary to realize the cause which is noble indeed.

The final appeal was made by Mr. Rose for Church Union towards the solution of the student problem here in Canada.

The cold breezes come,
The sunshine is upon,
Where were my summer
Wages spent.

R.V.C. SOCIETE HEAR M. THOMAS

Dramatic Ability Shown by Sophomores

The opening meeting of the Societe Francaise that was held on Thursday afternoon at the R.V.C. was a huge success. There was not a vacant chair in the Common Room and several members of the faculty honored the gathering with their presence. The meeting opened with Miss Fielders occupying the chair. After a brief period of business, Miss Fielders in a few words stated the aim of the society which is to arouse interest in the French language and French literature. She then outlined the programme for the year, which will consist of plays, charades, impromptu speeches, and various other features.

All undergraduates are ordinary members, but to enjoy the special privileges of the Societe, one must be an active member—active in the real sense of the word—that is, contributing fifty cents plus a little pep. These active members are greatly in demand! They are the ones who are responsible for making the Societe a greater success than it has been in other years. Mademoiselle Touren led the audience in singing French songs and for ten minutes the room rang with the familiar strains of "Gentille Alouette" and "La plume de ma mere."

An amusing playette entitled "La poupee Mechanique" written and staged by several members of the Sophomore year was presented by the following young ladies, Miss G. Hart, Miss Frances Stocking, Miss Audrey Ransom, Miss Ruth Martin and Miss Minnie Ratner.

The play ran as follows: An elderly French lady advertises for a maid. Several apply but refuse to stay because of the lack of a motor, maitre d'hotel, and sufficient salary. At last in desperation the lady phones a prominent departmental store and orders "la poupee mechanique" which arrives in three minutes neatly done up in excelsior and wrapping paper. At last the servant problem is solved! But, no, the mechanical servant becomes unmanageable and all is lost.

The chief event of the afternoon was a short talk by Mr. Thomas, an author and journalist of note, and a member of the Alliance Francaise. M. Thomas dealt with the spirit and character of the French people and to illustrate his talk he related several humorous French anecdotes which showed that under the light, happy-go-lucky manner of the French there is a depth of seriousness and gravity. M. Thomas referred to the concise reports given to celebrities in European newspapers and compared them with the fully-colored write-ups of the American newspaper.

A very interesting afternoon was brought to a close with the serving of delicious refreshments which had been provided by the members after which a very gay half-hour was spent in music and dancing.

BRITISH RUGBYISTS TO GO TO TORONTO

Team Picked to Represent Red and White

In preparation for the game against Varsity on Saturday, the McGill British Rugby team held one of the best work outs it has had this season on the campus yesterday afternoon. Notwithstanding the sloppy condition of the field, the men worked hard and a great deal of competition was around especially amongst the forwards.

The team that will uphold the red and white in Toronto will be no weak one for a wealth of good material is at hand to draw from. Patterson formerly of the track, showed good form on the forward line while Legg also shone. A number of last year's stand bys are on deck again and McGill should put up a great showing.

The following is in the line-up of the team that will go to Toronto Saturday.

Forwards
Cleland, Walter, Wilson, Hart, Brown, Patterson, Blundell, MacOdrum.
Full-back
McLeod.
Three Quarters
Marpole, Macdonald, Legg, Holman.
Halves
Beaton, Wyse.
Subs
Cooper, Lochard.

EVENING OF GREAT SUCCESS FOR MINERS

Students and Professors Gather Round Festive Board

REFRESHMENTS

Evening Pronounced Grand Success by All Present

Standing outside the Drummond Building on St. Catherine Street, last night one of the good citizens of Montreal was started to hear the most unusual sounds issuing from somewhere near the top story of the edifice. This citizen, fearing that villainy was afoot, gently tapped on the shoulder the man who happened to be standing at his right, and suggested that together they investigate this uncanny mystery. So together they crept into the lower precincts of the building and here a little secret is to be given to those of the "Daily" readers who will listen carefully: 'tis this—the one who stood on the citizen's right was none other than a staff reporter of the "Daily." They crept cautiously towards the ominous sounds which not only still continued to radiate, but even grew greater and louder as the moments passed. At last the sounds were located, and the observers beheld a sight of wonder, for as they entered in, they came of a sudden upon what—the monthly social evening of the Mining and Metallurgical Society of McGill, and it was truly a social evening.

At eight o'clock the refreshment committee was on hand and was soon busy arranging and preparing the refreshments that were to while away the hours and appease the inner man during the programme that had been arranged by the splendid executive which the society has this year. At a quarter to nine, the programme started with a lively sing-song to the strains of Webster's mandolin. The music was well received and frequent encores were indulged in after which Mr. Gilbert Wilson gave the first of his celebrated "readings." Mr. Wilson received such a storm of applause that he gave another equally brilliant selection entitled "The King of the Cottam Islands." From this on, the entire evening was "One Continuous Round of Merriment" with the most happy series of jovial songs interspersed with now and then an original song or recitation even as the knights of old were wont to do when with King Arthur, they gathered around the famous round table, in the days before mining was taught in Universities.

The Miners will not soon forget this evening of mirth for evenings like this it is that Science men need—now and then to make that ever needed break in the grind of

Geology, geology
Fossilized humanity,
Wholesale insanity,
Rah—

But be not misled that this was a night of Terribleness, no—nothing of the sort—nothing terrible at all—just fun, fun for the boys, fun for the professors and after all the songs were sung and the midnight bells were rung, the boys went home and this morning they are on hand again, ready for another month of study, meetings, laboratory, lectures, etc., etc.

For the other men of Science, it is believed there is a lesson in this gathering, and that there is indeed room for every society, be it electrical, mechanical or physical, to imitate the Miners and, once a month, gather together the boys and professors around the festive board and all forget their woes and their differences and though there be reports and whatnot undone at home, all say

On with the dance—
Let joy be unrefined.

PROF. LLOYD GIVES TALK TO SIGMA XI

Excellent Annual Report Presented

BOTANICAL RESEARCH

Remarkable Examples of Colour Photography of Microscopic Specimens

On Wednesday evening, an interesting meeting of the Sigma XI was held in the Biological Building, at which Professor P. E. Lloyd gave an address on original research carried out by himself and his assistants in the Department of Botany.

A great many plants acquire a poisonous dose of Oxalic Acid which is removed by the ingenious contrivance of crystallization of Calcium Oxalate, inside individual cells, with groups of crystals one or two in number and sometimes more. There has been some controversy on this subject and the slides clearly indicated that Professor Lloyd is correct in his contention that the crystalline groups do not envelope the nucleus or the protoplasm; but, on the contrary, the crystalline mass is formed in the protoplasm separate from the nucleus and in no case enveloping it.

Professor Scarth gave a clear account of the curious action of certain cells with spiral chloroplasts. These spirals sometimes exhibit great elasticity and power of contraction; but, curiously enough, the process can be reversed, so that they are in a viscous or inelastic state. He pointed out that by the introduction of certain metal ions, the elasticity could be restored, whilst very pure distilled water had the reverse action of a toxic nature. Professor Scarth has elaborated a new theory of contractility based upon the view that protoplasm in its normal condition is crystalline.

The chief feature of the evening was, however, some recent discoveries of a novel character by Professor Lloyd. In 1852, Sir George Stokes discovered the property of fluorescence, so that a substance like Canary glass, permits yellow light to pass through it, but reflects back light of longer wave length of a beautiful green colour. In the same way the certain pigments of plants transmit light of one colour and reflect backwards light of another, generally carmine, red or orange. This remarkable phenomenon has not previously been observable in living forms microscopically. By careful use of reflectors, so that direct light does not pass up the microscope, Professor Lloyd was able to show the brilliant colouring due to fluorescence in fresh water algae and allied plants.

With the assistance of Mr. H. G. Lloyd of the Forest Products Department, the lecturer was able to obtain, by the Paget process, of colour photography, excellent slides faithfully reproducing the fluorescent colours obtained under the microscope. These were the first colour photographs ever taken of living plants under the microscope by their own fluorescent light.

The annual report of the Sigma XI indicated a flourishing condition of the Society, and after a brief vote of thanks, the Programme Committee announced further meetings at which Dr. Bancroft and President Livingston Farrand, both of Cornell University will deliver addresses.

RECRUITS WANTED FOR BASKETBALL

High School Gym. Acquired for Practices

The basketball season is fast approaching and the first practice of the year will be held in the High School Gym. on Monday, November 5th, at five P. M. Every man in the Uni., verally who has played basketball is requested to turn out.

The committee in charge propose to hold two or three practices in the High School Gym. and will pick the senior and intermediate A teams at those practices. The rest will go to Molsons Hall, where, after a week of practice, the intermediate B and Junior B teams will be selected.

After this division, an inter-class Fresh-Soph league will be staged, in which all men not already chosen will be given a further opportunity to develop. Those who make a good showing in this league will be shifted to other teams.

In order that the coaches may have the best opportunity of choosing opportunity of choosing material and making the best teams possible, it is necessary that every basket ball enthusiast will be on hand at all the practices. Professional coaches have been secured and will be on hand at all the practices. Aspirants to any of the teams will be assured of a good chance and will receive the best basketball tuition in the city. The season is being started two weeks earlier this year. In order that the new plans of the Basket Ball Club will materialize properly. Numerous trips are being planned for all teams and it is hoped that McGill will repeat its performance of last year in winning the intercollegiate championship.

PSYCHOLOGICAL TESTS FOR FROSH

"All ye who enter here"—will take a psychological test. Or so it seems for this, they would have us believe, is THE way to get the proper slant on each novice as he enters the University—or most any other University. The following editorial "Are You a Moron?" taken from the Daily Princetonian rather makes fun of this idea—and after all, what does such a test prove or disprove? Nothing, seemingly.

In the light of the fact that Psychological tests are to be given for a second time to the class of 1925, it is interesting to note the results obtained by Northwestern University in similar examinations. The experiment at that institution has proved nothing—if we may judge from the report. Intelligence tests have failed to show any connection between a student's standing in his college work and his rated mentality as shown in the examination.

"This, of course, is exactly what the Princeton psychological department is seeking to discover. It is also dispiriting of ascertaining whether one year of college has raised the in-

ARTS SOCCERITES WIN FROM SCIENCE

Team for Beloeil to be Picked at To-day's Practice

Yesterday afternoon, on a wet greasy field, the Arts faculty soccer team defeated a team from Science by the odd goal in five, the final score being 3-2. The Engineers started the game with several men short and were still lacking one man when the final whistle blew.

Arts scored first, but Science soon evened up the tally on a shot by Balleny. The exhibition of play was pretty to watch. Good football was displayed by both sides, despite the fact that the campus was sodden and slippery with two days' heavy rain. At half-time the score stood at 1-1. In the second half the ball was carried up and down the field continuously in many fine passing plays. Head-work was also much in evidence. Arts tallied twice in this period while Science netted one. For Arts Eldridge, Seaton, and the full-backs showed up well. Balleny, Thomas and Cove starred for Science.

College Team to be Picked. A practice will be held this afternoon at which the men composing the team journeying to Beloeil will be chosen. The following men are asked to turn out to this practice:

Easterbrooke, Yegg, Smith, Stephenson, Balleny, Johnson, Cove, Rinfret, Seaton, Thomas, Robb, Moffat, Stockhansen, Brain, Briggs, Eldridge and Airey.

The team will entrain for Beloeil at Bonaventure Station at 12.05 noon Saturday. All players are urged to be at the station at 11.50. Any men who are picked, and are unable to make the trip are asked to notify the captain, Seaton, or the manager as soon as possible.

of the individual members of it. That it could not help but be almost self evident—certainly there should be some signs of improvement, somehow regardless of how fixed and immovable our modern psychologists claim the individual mental limit to be.

"The Northwestern statistics show that while one-sixth of the student body was below par in their studies, this portion returned a psychological rating fully satisfactory as their more fortunate and less conditioned brethren. From this one might very well come to the conclusion that psychology is yet a long way from attaining a perfect standard. It might well be held on the other hand, that the psychological standard was the true one and that the curricular methods were at fault. There is much to be said on both sides. It would be well, however, to wait until our own psychologists have gathered their crop of data—then with something to go upon we can haggle to our heart's content."
